Global Presence

Tangent has met the 'talent' needs of customers since 1974, and seeks to find only the best candidates in each sector. Working to the ethos that 'attitude is required, whilst skills can be acquired', Tangent looks beyond each candidates resume to the person behind. An extensive selection process and a trust in the instincts of our highly trained consultants means we have a near perfect search record in multiple markets.

We seek to understand our customers and use this knowledge to pinpoint the attributes that most count. We work at CEO, COO, CFO, Board, Senior, VP, Mid tier, and Subject Matter Expert levels and are confident of finding the right person whatever the location. We are aided by Tangents' truly global search divisions that have access to over half a million candidates from 220 countries. In addition our search network covers many thousands more in key positions on 5 continents. Tangent Executive work alongside Tangent International and Tangent Resources to provide the complete solution.

Bespoke Solutions

Tangent Executive do not rely on 'boiler-plate' methodologies, but would rather develop a bespoke solution for every customer's specific requirement. Our recruiting PMs and Directors are tasked with developing quick and accurate assessments of our customers needs. Our project teams are subsequently tasked with providing the final proposal and working with the customer to deliver what has been agreed.

We believe that the key to effective recruitment is reducing the time lapse between each stage in the process. Our teams work hard at providing the necessary information required at each interval, to allow for a smooth transition through the process. Each of our teams is equipped to identify and capitalise on time savings in the search process, and it is these savings that make our customers return to us time and time again.

Tangent have been developing candidate search networks for over thirty years and as a consequence provide effective and trouble free recruitment programmes for our customers.
